

NIKKEN®

The way

nature intended.

Kenko Naturest™ Sleep System

YOU'RE DESIGNED TO SLEEP NATURALLY.

WE'RE HERE TO HELP.

The chances are that you won't get the sleep you need, unless you create an environment that promotes good sleeping.

Nikken has done exactly that.

A Nikken Kenko Naturest™ Sleep System combines a number of revolutionary features designed to help you experience the processes of physical and mental recharging that form the basis of sleep.

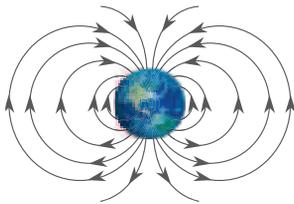

No other product or system has ever brought together this unique set of technologies and materials, that are intended to make your surroundings more naturally conducive to healthy, restful sleeping.

FOR BETTER REST, GO BACK TO THE BASICS.

RAM™ Technology helps to balance your sleep area

In the universe, every object exists within a magnetic field. Earth itself is a giant magnet, with negative and positive (north and south) poles. Throughout history, human beings spent their waking and sleeping hours surrounded by the Earth's magnetic energy. In fact, without this magnetic field life would not be possible.

But today our society's physical infrastructure has isolated us from this phenomenon. Buildings, electrical wiring and even metal bedsprings affect the influence of this ambient magnetism.

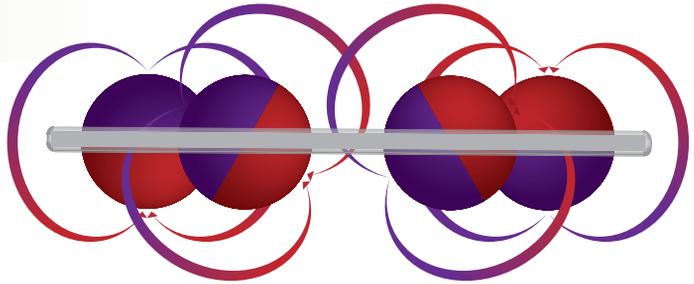

Nikken Kenko Naturest™ sleep technology features an arrangement of magnets inspired by the Earth's natural magnetic flow, to help bring the sleep environment closer to nature.

Patent-pending RAM (radial-axis magnetism) Technology is the newest in a long line of Nikken magnetic innovations.

Three dimensions, out of two

Every magnetic field is three-dimensional — but when produced on a flat surface, any conventional technology can only project its poles and angles in two dimensions: up or down.

Recognition of this constraint led to an entirely new concept, a system that uses a three-dimensional structure — rendered in a planar form — to extend the energy flow over a range of directions.

With magnetic fields extending up, down, across, and at angles in between.

RAM Technology features compact, spherical neodymium magnets arranged in circular patterns. Each individual magnet is positioned so that its positive-negative axis is rotated 60 degrees relative to its neighbor. That produces a series of overlapping magnetic fields that cover a full 360 degrees in three dimensions.

This means that the magnetic energies enclose any object in proximity to them. No matter how contact is applied, positioned, or shifted, the magnetic cocoon enfolds and surrounds, even with a complex object or body composed of multiple angles.

No other technology exists that can create this encompassing magnetic field in this way.

The Kenko Naturest™ Mattress Topper, complemented by a Kenko Naturest™ Custom Pillow and Kenko™ Dream Comforter, helps to reproduce the magnetic conditions found in the physical universe.

NATURAL MATERIALS, FOR A MORE NATURAL SLEEP EXPERIENCE.

Latex offers better support and comfort

The foundation of the Kenko Naturest™ Mattress Topper is composed of latex rubber. This offers many advantages over the polyurethane foam and other materials used in most sleep products:

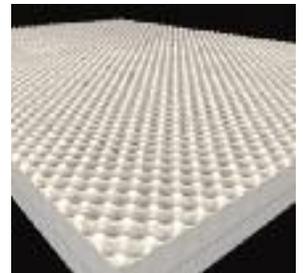

- Latex is naturally resistant to microbial growth and dust mites.
- It holds its shape and firmness better than polyurethane foam, for more durable support, yet it yields to pressure for an ideal degree of sleep comfort.

- Latex also wicks away moisture and promotes improved ventilation.

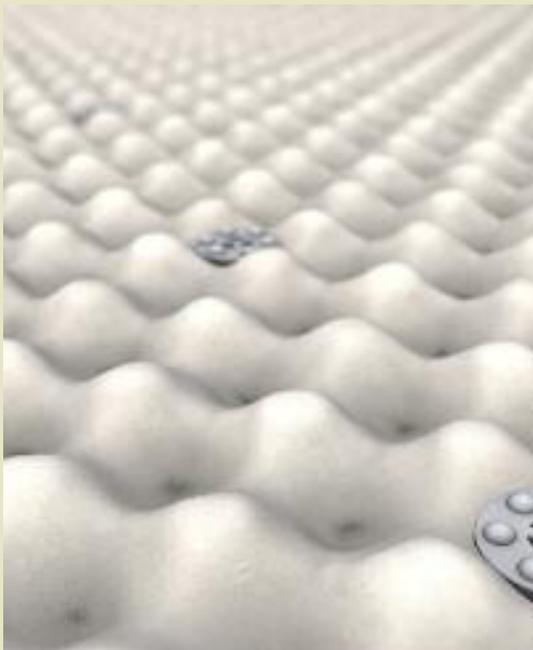

In addition, the latex used in the Kenko Naturest™ Mattress Topper is a completely renewable material. And in contrast to the fossil fuels used to make other types of mattresses or pillows, production of latex actually helps to preserve natural resources, by maintaining forested areas that would otherwise be cleared.

FEEL THE GENTLE MASSAGING EFFECT.

Promotes relaxation for more tranquil sleep

Stress and discomfort can be relieved by massage. Several sleep technologies attempt to produce this sensation with a textured or raised surface.

The Kenko Naturest™ Mattress Topper is different. It features massage nodules that are enhanced, using a proprietary process, with a layer of applied latex that imparts a gradient density — firmness and the right amount of yielding “give.” This engineering breakthrough provides a gently stimulating feeling that makes the body more receptive to relaxation.

This affords the sensation of massage and helps ease tension. You not only fall asleep more easily, you also wake up feeling refreshed.

RELAX ON THE NATURAL-FIBER COVER.

Helps control temperature to keep you warm or cool

The Mattress Topper cover is woven in a blend of natural fibers, produced without chemical pesticides, insecticides or fertilizers.

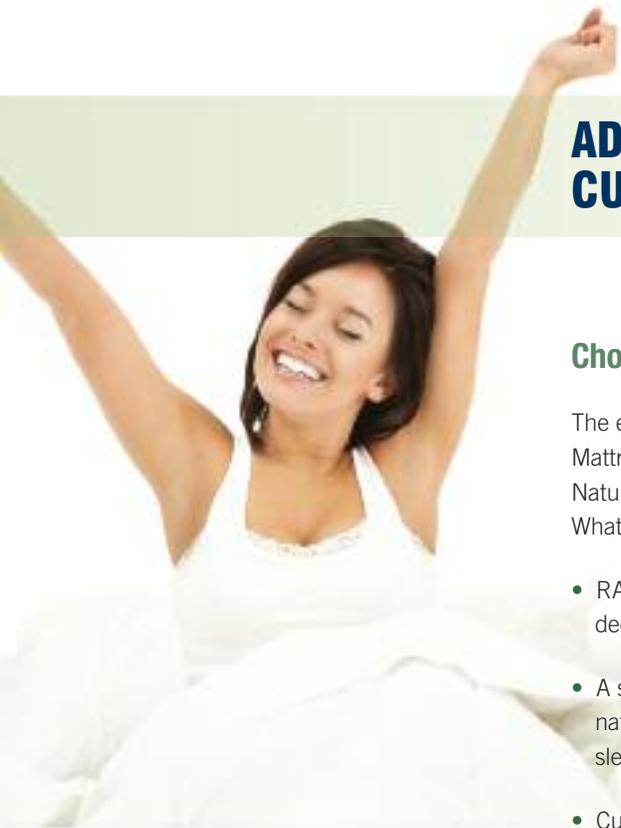

- This fabric promotes breathability for natural regulation of temperature, and to resist mildew.

- These are also all-natural, fully renewable resources.

- Use of these materials enables the Kenko Naturest Mattress Topper to meet federal flammability standards for mattress pads and mattresses, without the use of flame-retardant chemicals.

ADD A KENKO NATUREST™ CUSTOM PILLOW.

Choose your preferred level of head and neck support

The exceptional features you find in the Kenko Naturest™ Mattress Topper are duplicated in the Kenko Naturest Custom Pillow — and it adds more. What you'll find:

- RAM Technology, with the magnetic layer embedded deep within the pillow body.
- A shredded-latex filler, with the advantages of latex including its natural resilience that prevents flatness — a common effect when sleeping on ordinary down-filled or foam pillows.
- Custom firmness control: subtract or replace the latex filler to achieve the desired degree of softness or support, for the personal perfect fit.
- An internal support collar to provide correct head and neck alignment. It is placed so that the sleeper can arrange the pillow to select greater or less support, as desired.
- The same natural-fiber cover as the Kenko Naturest Mattress Topper, for a cool and comfortable surface that is naturally fire-resistant.

COMPLETE YOUR SLEEP SYSTEM WITH A KENKO™ COMFORTER.

Far-infrared fibers that absorb natural energy to keep you warm

Nikken Kenko Comforters are more than an ordinary blanket or quilt. They include Nikken magnetic technology to enclose you fully in the cocoon of magnetism. Additionally, Kenko Comforters feature exclusive Nikken Far-Infrared Technology.

Ceramic-reflective, far-infrared fibers in the comforter absorb energy produced by ambient heat, sunlight or your body. These fibers reflect that energy in the far-infrared range, as gentle heat. Far-Infrared Technology is self-regulating, as excess heat escapes through the breathable cotton cover. The result is a comforter that can be warm or cool.

Kenko Comforters are available in a selection of different weights and sizes.

SO ADVANCED, IT'S BACK TO NATURE.

You only have so many hours to spend in sleep. If you're not getting the most from that time, you'll feel it.

No one can make the pressures of daily life go away, but you can improve your body's ability to deal with them. Gain increased energy, feel more relaxed, and enjoy a heightened sense of well-being. The answer may be as simple as replacing what you sleep on.

Kenko Naturest™, from Nikken. It's the natural choice.
